				For purposes of this part, the term—
				Agency means the unit of a State, local, corporate, or nonprofit authority, or of the Department of Justice, with direct responsibility for the operation of any facility that confines inmates, detainees, or residents, including the implementation of policy as set by the governing, corporate, or nonprofit authority.
				Agency head means the principal official of an agency.
				Community confinement facility means a community treatment center, halfway house, restitution center, mental health facility, alcohol or drug rehabilitation center, or other community correctional facility (including residential re-entry centers), other than a juvenile facility, in which individuals reside as part of a term of imprisonment or as a condition of pre- trial release or post-release supervision, while participating in gainful employment, employment search efforts, community service, vocational training, treatment, educational programs, or similar facility-approved programs during nonresidential hours.
				Contractor means a person who provides services on a recurring basis pursuant to a contractual agreement with the agency.

NOTE: While the NPREC Standards included community corrections facilities, probation, parole and pretrial supervision schemas, the DOJ revised standards do not include probation or parole. According to the DOJ report, “the Department feels that to the extent the definition [of community corrections] includes supervision of individuals in a non-residential setting, it exceeds the scope of PREA’s definition of jail and prison which include only confinement facilities.” NPREC Standards denoted with a * are standards intended to cover community corrections facilities as well as probation, parole and pretrial supervision
